

Joyce Byers

Character Description

Times have been tough for you. A single mother without much money, two bullied children that play DnD (nerds!), and now supernatural demon aliens... Somewhere along the line you needed a little pick me up. That hasn't stopped, and your drug habit has started to get a little out of hand. But it has nothing to do with the kids! The upside down is real dammit!

Secrets and Lies

- Jim Murphy used to get calls from a D.C. number that he would drop anything to take. He said it was his supervisor, but you have always had a hunch that he was lying.
  - Today at Crime Con, you saw Rosa storm away from Huxley after shouting "I won't do it anymore!"
  - Both you and Batman saw Huxley take a thick envelope and then jot something in a notebook. Batman then went off.
  - For a detective, Rosa Diaz sure has a lot of expensive things: beautiful apartment, pilot's license, medical degree.

Relationships

- When you met Sheriff Bill "Hot Stuff" Huxley--years ago when he visited Hawkins--you fell in love with him.

- Jim "Sloppy Seconds" Hopper clearly loves you, but you aren't that interested.
  - You spent a lot of time with Fredrek during crime con. His medium abilities may be connected to secret government projects. You really bonded over the "supernatural".
  - Friends with Jim "Super Safe" Murphy from when he was stationed in Hawkins.

Objectives

- Find out Jim Murphy's secrets
- You aren't that interested in Hopper, but he can be useful. Manipulate him into helping you find the people behind the drug trade.
- Join the group responsible for the drug trade. Money is tight after all.
