

Detective Pikachu

Character Description

After cracking her first case, Detective Pikachu came upon tough times. She has difficulty speaking to anyone, so solving crime is hard. Besides, sometimes shocking someone is more fun.

The drug trade is also easier. You are a member of the organization called The Vile Assembly, having been recruited by Sheriff Huxley (the 2nd in command) to expand the market to Japan. Detective Pikachu is the number three of The Vile Assembly, and with the death of Huxley, the #2. Above you is Mr. Teatime, a mysterious criminal mastermind. You believe he is also here at the party.

Secrets and Lies

- You went to Hawkins to expand The Vile Assembly' market there. Successfully.
 - You saw Joyce reject Jim Hopper at Crime Con.
 - You brought Huxley an envelope of money at Crime Con. You were careful and wore a hood.
 - Mike Sullivan once posted on the Japannese dark web looking for a hit man. He did the same thing 5 years later.
 - Nancy Drew had a pregnancy test in the bathroom at Crime Con. She tried to hide it, but you saw. She looked happy.
-

Relationships

- Batman thinks of you as a rival, but you aren't in this business for that. He is pretty annoying because of it.
 - Jake Peralta's name has come up in The Vile Assembly as a possibility, but Huxley always shut it down--unclear why. This may be an opportunity to recruit him.
 - You aren't a human, so relationships are hard. Fredrek seems to get that, and you two get along well.
-

Objectives

1. Embarrass Batman by publicly revealing one of his secrets.
2. Money is always good. Subtly find out if anyone has a job for someone that doesn't mind getting a little dirty.
3. This is an opportunity to seize control of The Vile Assembly. Become the leader by having current members agree, or by recruiting new members as the leader.